

Dead in Our Asking
2 Kings 13:1-9, Pew Bible p. 319
January 14, 2024

I. God's View of Sin (V. 1-2)

- A. Our life is not measured by the standard of the world, but by the eyes of the Lord.
  - 1. His standard of holiness is not based on people's history of obedience.
  - 2. His greatest concern is our relationship with Him.

- B. A note on generational sin
  - 1. The sins of our fathers can predispose us to sin.
  - 2. The sins of our fathers cannot make us sin.
  - 3. We are not responsible for the sins of our fathers.
  - 4. We are responsible for reproducing the sins of our fathers.

II. Asking God for Help (V. 3-9)

- A. Our First and Second Greatest Problems
  - 1. Humanity's greatest problem is separation from God.
  - 2. Humanity's second greatest problem is it doesn't know its first greatest problem.

- B. You do not have to repent in order to receive compassion from God, but you do have to repent in order to be reconciled to God.
  - 1. Knowing we are in pain does not mean we are ready to change.
  - 2. Trusting God through trials does not always lead to trusting God in prosperity.

- C. Being saved by God from trouble is not the same as being saved by God from sin.

Group Discussion Questions

1. Read 2 Kings 13:1-9.
2. What was King Jehoahaz's greatest problem in life? Why? What is humanity's greatest problem today?
3. What are most common ways people ask God for help today? Why?
4. Did the people of Israel change after God helped them, according to verses 5-6? Why do people often fail to change even after God saves them from something?
5. What is the difference between being saved by God from troubles and being saved by God from sin? Why is it often hard for people to know the difference?
6. What does this passage say about God's willingness to help unrepentant people? How can it warn us against taking advantage of God's mercy?
7. Pray for our church members to prioritize our relationship with God over all other struggles of life. Come to the church prayer meeting this Wednesday from 6:00–6:30 pm in Worship Center Room 103.
